Shaftesbury Park Primary School

First of all, a message from the Lavender Hill Farmers' Market:

Dear Customers,
 Thank you for your loyal support of the Lavender Hill Farmers' Market.
 It is with regret that we have to inform you that we will be closing the market with effect from 11th June. This is due to a lack of sales which has affected our ability to maintain a satisfactory number of stalls to keep the market going.
 We apologise for the disappointment we know this will cause. We hope you manage to continue buying local food from some of our other outlets. You can find details of these on our website www.lfm.org.uk
 Kind regards,

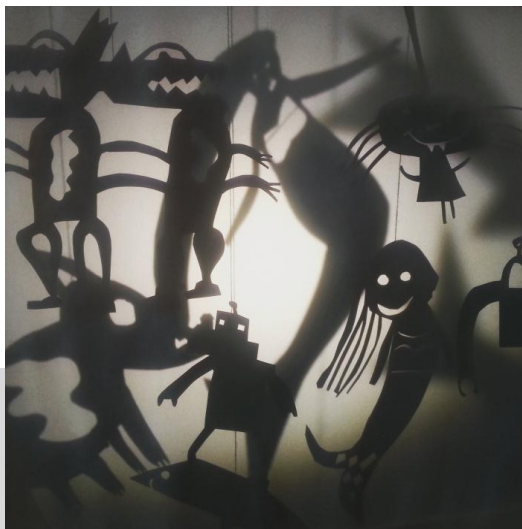

We have very much enjoyed hosting the Lavender Hill Farmers' Market over the course of the last nine months. The experience has provided myriad educational opportunities, including acting as the exit point for the Foundation Stage topic of shopping, and has helped us to forge many new links with the local community. We are obviously greatly saddened by the decision of the London Farmers Market to close but wish them every success for the future in their other locations.

WorryBoy

On Friday 10th June, Turtles class went to the fantastic WorryBoy art exhibition at Oxford House, Bethnal Green. This visit was the culmination of a six-week project with artist and interim Teaching Assistant Elsbeth van der Poel, which has seen Turtles class exploring their fears and worries, as well as how to deal with difficult situations, through the mediums of art and storytelling.

The WorryBoy art exhibition itself takes the form of a giant walk-through storybook about a young boy called Jonah who, following an excruciating headache, wakes up with an enormous head. When the Doctor tells Jonah that his fears and worries are actually alive in his head, Jonah must journey inside his own mind to face his fears and be cured.

The Turtles have had the wonderful experience of contributing to this installation and really enjoyed going along to its opening and officially signing their work (as all artists should do) before celebrating with the two other schools who took part in this project.

Many thanks to Ms van der Poel for all her hard work!

Every child has the right to relax, play and take part in a wide range of cultural and artistic activities.

A warm welcome back to Major Tim Peake who returned from his 6-month stay on board the International Space Station (ISS) on Saturday.

Major Peake has carried out over 250 experiments over the course of his time on the ISS, including the one we have been taking part in. We look forward to discovering if any of our seeds are revealed as having made the journey into Outer Space very soon!

We are really excited about the upcoming Summer Fete. We are very eager to hear from anyone who is available to help us prepare in advance or even man a stall on the day! Please let us know if you have any traditions/skills you would like to share as part of our fete (it is internationally-themed).
